

MODULE 6: REFLECTION

Critical Thinking, Discussion, Reflection & Future Vision

Lesson 30: Reflection & Future Vision

Guiding Questions

- What have you learned from this process?
- What is your future vision?

Before celebrating your huge accomplishment, it is important to take a step back and reserve time for reflection. Now that you have been through this entire process and it is still fresh in your mind, think about what you learned, what you gained and how you grew through this process. Make note of the challenges and note how you overcame them. Also, think about where you will go from here. Will you present and disseminate your findings to improve something in your workplace? Will you try to publish your findings? What is your future vision?

Action Research Reflection Questions

Reflection is the final stage of action research. This is an essential component of your research that you are highly encouraged to dedicate time and thoughtful contemplation. Reflecting on the process and learning that occurred throughout your action research will help bring about meaningful insights to deepen your understanding of your topic and the action research process.

Using the following prompts, write a reflection about your paper:

1. What have you learned through the process?
2. How have you grown as an individual/professional?
3. What challenges did you face, and how did you overcome them?
4. Now that you have completed your action research, what is your future vision? How will you use your action research results?
5. What advice would you give to another student attempting to conduct action research and write an action research paper?

Action Research Reflection Questions

Reflection is the final stage of action research. This is an essential component of your research that you are highly encouraged to dedicate time and thoughtful contemplation. Reflecting on the process and learning that occurred throughout your action research will help bring about meaningful insights to deepen your understanding of your topic and the action research process.

Using the following prompts, write a reflection about your paper:

1. What have you learned through the process?
2. How have you grown as an individual/professional?
3. What challenges did you face, and how did you overcome them?
4. Now that you have completed your action research, what is your future vision? How will you use your action research results?
5. What advice would you give to another student attempting to conduct action research and write an action research paper?

